Ms. Kelli Nelson, Chair of the Advisory Committee for Special Education, thanked Ms. Johns for attending the last committee meeting. Concerns about the accommodations situation with regard to MSA testing were discussed, as was the upcoming Special Education Staffing Plan. Ms. Nelson noted that the input sessions for the staffing plan were very well attended. She expressed disappointment that the Special Education Office had not yet provided feedback on these sessions. The committee was invited to participate in a meeting with the County Executive with regard to the school system's proposed budget. Even though the advisory committee supports the budget, Ms. Nelson stated there continue to be concerns about Thornton funding, the increase in non-public placement, and staffing ratios. PUBLIC COMMENT (Cont.)

adequate funding of public education is the responsibility of elected officials and while increased taxes are not popular, it may be needed to fund education.

Mr. Stephen Crum, a representative of the Southeast Area Educational Advisory Council, spoke about the outstanding performance given by students of Kenwood High School, Middle River, Stemmers Run, Golden Ring, and Deep Creek Middle Schools at a recent school concert.

Ms. Meg O'Hare, Chair of the Northeast Area Educational Advisory Council, noted that the County Executive appears to be sincere in his support of public education. She expressed hope that Mr. Smith would show his support of the budget by approving it as adopted by the Board. During the meeting with the County Executive, the Coalition offered its assistance in answering questions posed by the County Executive about the school system. Ms. O'Hare also noted the assistance social workers provide children and families.

Mr. Rodger Janssen, Vice President of the PTA Council of Baltimore County, reminded Board members of the PTA Council's general meeting on March 27th. He also noted that over the last couple years, a recurring theme during discussions with the Board and Superintendent has been to be more active in informing the public of the good things happening in the school system. Since the hiring of the Chief Communications Officer last year, Mr. Janssen complained the good news is still not forthcoming.

Mr. Mark Beytin, President of the Teachers Association of Baltimore County, complimented Dr. Hairston and the Board on the handling of the calendar dilemma. He spoke of the severe budget crisis faced by the state and stated many of the proposed solutions include a built-in structural deficit that will place the state in the same predicament for years to come. MSTA and TABCO commissioned a study of registered voters throughout Maryland, with an oversampling of Baltimore County, to determine if voters are willing to pay increased taxes to support public education. Overwhelmingly, voters throughout the state and in Baltimore County opposed cutting public education funds as a way to solve budget problems facing county governments. There was also overwhelming support of raising taxes to deal with the budget crisis and fund public education.

Ms. Alison Wallick and Ms. Jessica Hirsh, the nurse and social studies teacher, respectively, from Meadowood Education Center described the school's Character Education Program and how it has evolved over the last three years.

There were no speakers to address the recommendations to Policy 2352 – Accidents/Medical Emergencies.

Mr. David Green, Ridgely Middle School and Riderwood Elementary School parent, shared his satisfaction with the school system's music program and asked for the Board's continued support. He shared his concern with the posting of "Drug Free School Zone" signs at schools stating how children might misinterpret the sign. Mr. Green asked that existing signs be removed and that the school system refrain from posting any more of the signs.

Ms. Kelli Nelson, a representative of the Northwest School Improvement Association, voiced her concern that the adopted boundaries for New Town High School will not address the overcrowding at Owings Mills High School. She questioned the status of the recommendations of the DeJong study with regard to the Northwest Area. Ms. Nelson asked that overcrowding in the Northwest Area be addressed before studying overcrowding throughout the county. She requested the Board present a formal plan to the community with respect to the DeJong recommendations.

Mr. Kennedy noted a recent visit by some Board and staff members to two automobile dealers and to Sollers Point Technical High School. He stated there is little difference between how our students are trained and the knowledge and technology currently being used in the automotive industry. He thanked the Career & Technology Education advisory group for sponsoring the trip.

At 8:38 p.m., Mr. Walker moved to adjourn the open session. The motion was seconded by Mr. Sasiadek and approved by the Board.
