Welcome to your child’s school! We want to help make your visit during American Education Week a meaningful experience. If daycare is available, please consider leaving younger children at home when visiting schools. Listed below are example behaviors and interactions to look for while observing your child engaged in learning.

- My child is prepared for class (paper, writing tools, etc.).
- My child has completed his/her homework assignment(s).
- My child demonstrates good listening skills (looking at the speaker, answering questions, taking notes when appropriate).
- My child follows directions.
- My child asks for help if he/she does not understand the directions.
- My child has the opportunity to talk with others about what he/she is learning.
- My child seems to enjoy learning.
- My child is able to demonstrate what he/she has learned.

Consider sharing this information with your child’s teacher during your next parent/teacher/student conference.

Visit the Parent University Web site for additional resources to support your child’s learning.
