Boundary process for central and northeast middle schools set to begin this week

First committee meeting to be held Thursday, Jan. 12, at Parkville High School

What: The first meeting of the committee charged with considering boundary options for central and northeast area middle schools will be held this week. Five committee meetings have been scheduled through March 29, along with two public information sessions on March 8 and March 9 to solicit public feedback about boundary line changes under consideration.

The purpose of the boundary study is to establish an attendance area for the new Northeast area middle school now under construction, to expand the attendance area for Pine Grove Middle School following completion of an addition that also is currently under construction, and to provide capacity relief to participating central and northeast area middle schools.

Schools included in this study are Cockeysville, Dumbarton, Golden Ring, Middle River, Parkville, Perry Hall, Pine Grove, Ridgely, and Stemmers Run middle schools and Loch Raven Academy.

When: Thursday, January 12, from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. (Snow date: Friday, January 13)

Where: Parkville High School
